

MALBEC D.O.C. 2022

HISTORY

Our Guarda Collection is the result of years of research and selection of the finest terroirs within our estates. These wines represent the essence of specific vineyards, located in a micro-zone of the Cuyo region, chosen for its exceptional quality characteristics.

Each Guarda wine reflects a balance between technique and sensitivity. They are deliberate interpretations of a specific place, with an elegant profile deeply connected to its terroir. True to their name, they are wines that deserve a place both in the cellar and in memory.

The Controlled Denomination of Origin (DOC) Luján de Cuyo was the first to be established in Latin America. Created in 1989, it protects and regulates the production of Malbec in this historic area of Mendoza, recognizing its value as a distinctive origin. Wines must be made exclusively with grapes from vineyards within the Luján de Cuyo department, with a minimum age of 10 years, high planting density, and low yields.

2022 VINTAGE REPORT

The 2022 harvest was characterized by lower yields due to intense cold and late spring frosts. However, the grapes harvested showed excellent quality; the reds stand out for their remarkable structure and great concentration in both aroma and color.

TECHNICAL INFORMATION

100% MALBEC

Alcohol: 14%

Vineyards: Lujan de Cuyo, Mendoza.

Total acidity: 5,74 g/l.

Altitude: 980-850 m.a.sl

Residual sugar: 1,60 g/l.

Aging potential: Over 10 years.

pH: 3,64

TASTING NOTES

Color: Deep red with ruby highlights and violet hues.

Nose: Intense and elegant, with ripe red fruits such as plum and cherry, complemented by violet notes and sweet spices. Oakaging adds subtle layers of vanilla, cocoa, and a delicate smoky touch.

Palate: Great concentration and volume, with silky, well-integrated tannins. Balanced, fresh, and persistent, with a long finish.

SUGGESTED PAIRING

Perfect with dishes such as rosemary-roasted lamb or stuffed eggplants with spices. It also pairs beautifully with slow-cooked stews, mushroom risottos, or preparations featuring roasted peppers and fresh herbs, where its structure and freshness balance bold flavors.

